Impact

IIAF II will provide capital to companies across India, Pakistan and Cambodia, many of which are underserved in terms of their finance options or are outside the mandates of existing impact investment Funds. Their strategy has a bias towards tier II and III cities as well as rural populations, where access to basic goods and services can be improved often via the use of technology, tech enabled platforms and mobile applications. Products and services are expected to be offered for agriculture, healthcare, education and financial inclusion. This creates good alignment with the DGGF objective of inclusive growth within the target countries. The Fund targets investment in between 12-15 companies, predominantly in the form of equity.
